In 2012 – 2013 CADR engaged in the following activities:

- CADR awarded four CADR Student Research Awards in 2012. Winners attended the IADR/AADR/CADR meeting in Seattle, Washington and the top two were invited to represent Canada at the Hatton award competitions. CADR successfully secured sponsorship for the awards from Henry Schein Canada. Trainees working in dental and oral health research in Canada applied for a CADR Student Research Award by submitting a manuscript describing their studies. The competition was judged by a panel of leading oral health researchers from across Canada.

The four winners invited to present their research in Seattle were:
- Daniel Salah, McGill University – 1st place in the Junior Category and Hatton Award competitor
- Sarah Farahabadi, The University of British Columbia – 1st place in the Senior Basic Science category and Hatton Award competitor
- Maher Bourbia, University of Toronto – 2nd place in the Senior Basic Science category
- Khady Ka, McGill University – 1st place in the Senior Clinical category

- As a result of receiving additional funding from Quintessence publishing, CADR extended its CADR-Quintessence Visiting Professorship by one additional year. The competition for the award took place in the fall of 2012 and Dr. Elham Emami from The University of Montreal was elected as a winner. She will visit Dalhousie University in Halifax to explore opportunities for future collaborations and present research talks. The Visiting Professorship provides an excellent opportunity for recently appointed oral health researchers to visit universities anywhere within Canada and engage in discussions on possible collaborative projects or technical exchanges.

- The new North-American Region’s (NAR) Bylaws and Constitution was approved by the AADR and IADR in Iguacu Falls, Brazil in June 2012. At the NAR meeting in Seattle, CADR successfully spearheaded an initiative to hold an IADR meeting in Canada in the summer of 2019. Dr. Edwin Yen from The University of British Columbia also continued his dedicated service as CADR’s NAR representative and the inaugural NAR Regional Board Member on the IADR Global Board of Directors.

- CADR continued its efforts to recruit new members for its Institutional Membership category, primarily geared towards Canadian Educational institutions. Four institutions – Dalhousie University, McGill University, the University of Montreal and Western University - joined this category in 2013. CADR was also investigating the possibility of establishing an Associate Membership for practicing dental clinicians.

- CADR actively contributed to the organization and success of the IADR/AADR/CADR meeting in Seattle, Washington in March 2013 and held a well-attended Annual General Meeting and Reception for its members at the meeting.

- Elections were conducted in the fall of 2012 and a new Vice-President, Dr. Joy Richman from the University of British Columbia was elected for the 2013-2015 term. Dr. Walter Siqueira from the University of Western Ontario was re-elected as Councilor-at-Large for the second term.

- CADR submitted a Letter of Intent for the IADR Regional Development Program in the fall of 2012. Dr. Catherine Poh from the University of British Columbia and Dr. X. Portia from UNAM, Mexico were collaborating in this project. The application was considered in the second stage, but did not receive funding.

- CADR successfully launched its new website in the summer of 2013 to provide better information to its members. The new website can be accessed at: http://www.cadr-acrd.ca/ In March 2013, CADR also adopted a new logo and gratefully acknowledges IADR’s help in the design process.

- CADR continued its discussions with the Institute of Musculoskeletal Health (IMHA) and Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR) to ensure that oral health research remains a priority in their funding plans. Dr. Debora Matthews, Past-President, was elected as an Institute Advisory Board (IAB) member of IMHA. She and Dr. Jeff Dixon, another IAB member, regularly attends the CADR Executive’s teleconferences to provide updates about new initiatives, funding opportunities and to disseminate information that might be of interest to the oral health research community in Canada. These updates are also regularly included as news items in the membership emails.
• CADR promoted the visibility of oral health research by providing a presentation for the CDA meeting in April 2013. Dr. Matthews, Dr. Filaggi and Dr. Glogauer also attended the Association of Canadian Faculties of Dentistry (ACFD) Research Deans meeting in Halifax in June 2013 to provide an update about CADR activities. In addition, a very successful workshop entitled “Careers in Academic Dentistry” was organized for dental students by Councilor, Dr. Walter Siqueira in London, Ontario. Support was received for this workshop from the new Network for Canadian Oral Health Research (NCOHR) and nine of the 10 Canadian dental schools participated in this initiative. The workshop was broadcasted live via the internet over two days.
CADR’s priorities and planned activities for 2013– 2014 are:

- Continue to work with IMHA and CIHR to ensure that oral health research remains a priority in their funding plans.

- Actively promote institutional membership to educational institutions in Canada and pursue partnerships and sponsorship opportunities with industry partners and government agencies.

- Promote membership in CADR/IADR among Canadian oral health researchers, undergraduate and postgraduate dental students.

- Continue to revitalize the CADR Student Research Group and provide guidance and organizational support for their activities.

- Continue to work with IADR and AADR to plan a successful AADR/CADR meeting in Charlotte in March 2014 and fully participate in the IADR meeting in Cape Town, South Africa.

- Continue discussions with IADR/AADR about the organization of the planned IADR meeting in Canada during the summer of 2019.

- Pursue collaborations within the North-American Region and provide leadership in the organization of a potential IADR Regional Development application.

- Continue to work with IADR on issues of mutual interest.
