7. Councilor’s report (Alp Kantarci, on behalf of Panos Papapanou)

Prof. Kantarci offered a report on issues discussed at the IADR & AADR Councilors’ meetings. He informed members that four new IADR Scientific Groups were established:

- Clinical and Translational Science
- Global Oral Health Inequalities Research
- Pediatric Oral Health Research
- Stem Cell Biology

In addition, two new sections were established: the Lebanese and the Tunisian section.

Overall, IADR Membership has grown and the biggest growth is observed in Latin America. A new membership category, coined Affiliate Member, with slightly reduced member benefits compared to the standard Membership was established. Last year’s meeting in Iguacu Falls, Brazil was among the biggest in IADR history, with more than 4,500 attendees and over 3,000 presentations. The increase in membership and the large attendance last year contributed to a healthy financial status for the IADR.

For the first time, a new pre-congress symposium, the IADR Academy, was held a day prior to the General Session. It was organized by the Center for Global Oral Health, University of Washington and was aiming at junior faculty and young investigators with some previous experience in clinical research. The symposium was interactive and some advanced and/or specialized clinical research methodology topics were addressed.

The existence of a Mentoring Program, as part of the IADR Regional Development Program that aims to encourage a sustainable research infrastructure in developing regions was mentioned. This Program provides support for established scientists to work on site with students/developing researchers for various periods of time.

Prof. Kantarci informed the group about the IADR-GOHIRA (Global Oral Health Inequalities Research Agenda) initiative, with the key objective to articulate a research agenda to generate the evidence for a strategy that, if properly implemented, will reduce inequalities in oral health within a generation. GOHIRA had been presented in an editorial in the Journal of Dental Research by Sgan-Cohen et al. (2013) and the Periodontal Disease Task Group Chair is Dr. Li Jian Jin, Hong Kong. Further, Prof. Kantarci informed the group briefly about the IADR – FDI collaboration.

The Journal of Dental Research continues to hold the #1 Eigen Factor Score in its category, according to the 2012 Scientific Impact Factor rankings. It increased its two-year Scientific Impact Factor (SIF) from 3.486 to 3.826, and also increased its ranking to #2 among 82 journals published in the “Dentistry, Oral Surgery & Medicine” category. A special Issue on Clinical Research in Implant Dentistry is planned, and the deadline for manuscript submission is June 11, 2013.

From the AADR Council meeting it was reported that there are efforts to combine ADEA and AADR. Also, that the possibilities for collaborative events between AAP and PRG, e.g. a research day/forum/session for AAP awardees in IADR/AADR, which could be expanded to include other Periodontology organizations globally, like the EFP, were discussed. Similarly, the possibilities for joint meetings with non-AADR groups, with targeted audience and focused themes (e.g. diabetes, smoking, HIV, regenerative medicine, microbiome) were discussed.

Further, at the AADR Council meeting possible initiatives for getting more engagement by educators, deans, and dental schools in AADR/IADR governance & meetings were discussed. There is a need to increase IADR membership and possibilities were discussed. The PRG sets a good example by engaging more students, adding/reaching out more geographical locations globally, and expanding the base for serving on the board.

Prof. Kantarci concluded by announcing the winners of the following awards:

- Sigmund Socransky Young Investigator Award
  Dr. Darnell Kaigler, Jr., University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, USA
- Past Presidents’ Travel Award (sponsored by Colgate-Palmolive Co)
  Dr. Moritz Kebschull, University of Bonn, Germany

8. Presentation of other awards

Prof. Chapple announced the winner of the Philips Oral Health Care Young Investigator Research Grant, which was Dr. Mervi Gürsoy, University of Turku, Finland.

Prof. Preshaw announced the winner of the IADR/Straumann Award in Regenerative Periodontal Medicine, which was Prof. Andreas Stavropoulos, University of Malmö, Sweden.

9. Announcement of the results of election of new secretary (Philip Preshaw)
The President, Prof. Preshaw, announced the results of the vote for the new secretary. Ballots had been distributed earlier in the business meeting, and all members present were asked to indicate their first preference. Ballots were collected, counted, and scrutinized by the Secretary, the President Elect, and the Immediate Past President.

Prof Preshaw announced that following the counting of all votes, Prof. Andreas Stavropoulos, University of Malmö, Sweden had been duly elected as the new secretary for 2013-2014.

10. New President’s Address (Shinya Murakami)
The incoming President of the PRG, Prof. Shinya Murakami, presented a recognition plaque to outgoing president Prof. Philip Preshaw.

Prof. Murakami also thanked the PRG Board and all sponsors for their support, and congratulated the award recipients and the newly elected Secretary. He stated that he is honored to become the president of the PRG and that he is looking forward to working together with the rest of the office bearers to serve the group.
