IADR Has an Expanded Name!

As part of the 2023 IADR/LAR General Session & Exhibition with WCPD Opening Ceremonies, IADR President Brian O’Connell announced the official expansion of the IADR name to the International Association for Dental, Oral, and Craniofacial Research and unveiled the new IADR logo:

While the “IADR” brand will be retained, as this is known throughout the world as the global name in dental research, “oral” and “craniofacial” are added to the full description to better encompass IADR’s members’ breadth of science.

See the evolution in the video below!

This change presents IADR as an inclusive community for all scientists committed to driving dental, oral, and craniofacial research for health and well-being worldwide. The three shades of blue represent dental, oral, and craniofacial research – the domains upon which our organization is based – and the simplified design achieves a more modern feel as IADR moves into its next century.

EVENTS

The Australian Dental Association is proud to be hosting the FDI World Dental Congress 2023 from September 24-27 in Sydney, Australia. This is the first in-person World Dental Congress in four years - a great opportunity for you to connect with colleagues from around the world in one of the most beautiful cities on the planet!

The Scientific Program will take place over four days and will feature more than 200 hours of presentations by leading dental figures from Australia and around the world. Covering a fascinating array of dental information and services, the diverse offerings ensure there will be something to interest everyone.

In addition, the multi-hall exhibition will run over the full four days of the event, showcasing the latest technological advances and leading-edge services in dentistry. The Congress is a must-attend event of 2023 for anyone interested in cutting-edge dental products and services. Interested exhibitors please visit our exhibition page for more information.

IADR Australia/New Zealand Division Conference 2023

The 2023 IADR/ANZ Conference promises to be an enriching experience for dental professionals, educators, and students alike. The program-at-a-glance will feature keynote speeches, oral and poster presentations, workshops, and networking sessions, all aimed at providing the latest insights and advancements in the field of dentistry.

With a diverse range of topics and engaging sessions, attendees can look forward to an unforgettable conference experience, sharing knowledge and exchanging ideas with peers and colleagues from across Australia and New Zealand. Don't miss out on this exciting opportunity to stay up-to-date with the latest trends and connect with fellow dental professionals.

Register now and join us in Sydney on September 27-29, 2023!

IADR CED/Scandinavian Divisions Oral Health Research Congress

The 2023 Oral Health Research Congress in Rhodes, Greece will feature a broad scientific program, consisting of state-of-the-art symposia, outstanding keynote lectures, as well as oral & poster presentations by researchers from Europe and beyond. The event is organized by the Continental European Division (CED-IADR) together with the Scandinavian Division (NOF) of IADR.

Special Issue on Aging and Oral Health

The IADR and AADOCR have announced the publication of a Special Issue of the Journal of Dental Research (JDR) entitled, “Aging and Oral Health.” The issue features Bei Wu, New York University, USA and Ana Paula Vieira Colombo, Federal University of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil as Guest Editors.

The JDR special issue, “Aging and Oral Health” covers numerous topics related to new advances in the biological mechanisms underpinning aging and the role of oral health in age-related conditions such as cognitive decline. It also explores novel ideas for improving oral health care in the population as a means for promoting general health in older people.
